

CLINICAL ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF REAL ESTATE
COORDINATOR OF UNDERGRADUATE REAL ESTATE PROGRAMS
NYU School of Professional Studies
Schack Institute of Real Estate

The Schack Institute of Real Estate within NYU's School of Professional Studies (NYUSPS) invites applications for the combined roles of a) full-time, non-tenure track Clinical Assistant/Associate Professor of Real Estate, and b) Coordinator of the BS in Real Estate program at Schack and the NYUSPS Division for Applied Undergraduate Studies. Full-time faculty appointments are for nine months, and are renewable annually based on performance. Coordinator appointments are concurrent administrative positions that run for 11 months, and are independently renewable annually based on performance. The standard full-time teaching load is six courses per academic year; this load is reduced to four courses per academic year for this combined appointment.

Eligibility:

Preferred qualifications include: a) PhD or other terminal degree in economics, applied economics, urban economics, finance, real estate, or a related field, b) Experience in degree program management and adjunct faculty management, c) Excellence in undergraduate or graduate-level teaching of real estate development, real estate finance and economics, real estate asset management, urban design, or related subjects, d) Demonstrated commitment to student advising and experience with working with diverse student populations, e) Excellent verbal and written communication skills, and f) Significant participation in applied real estate research, as evidenced by publication in peer-reviewed professional periodicals or refereed scholarly publications, conference presentations, and/or grant awards.

About the Institution:

NYU's School of Professional Studies is the university's home for learning and applied research related to key knowledge-based industries. NYUSPS offers a broad range of degree and noncredit programs that are professionally oriented, integrate theory with real-world applications, and are taught by faculty members who are leaders and innovators in their fields. The School of Professional Studies captures the expertise of key sectors that make New York City a great global capital, such as real estate, finance, marketing, public relations, global affairs, hospitality and tourism, sports management, philanthropy and fundraising, communications/media, writing, the arts, and others.

The NYUSPS Schack Institute of Real Estate is among the largest and most prestigious educational entities dedicated to the real estate and construction industries. Schack's esteemed reputation attracts students from around the globe and sends its graduates equally far afield. The faculty, thought leaders and expert practitioners combine theory with real-world applicability in their curricula. The Schack Institute of Real Estate offers both graduate degrees and an undergraduate degree for full and part-time students.

The NYUSPS Division of Applied Undergraduate Studies provides distinctive undergraduate pathways for students who want to pursue their education to deepen their knowledge, increase their professional expertise, and expand their career options. Our diverse range of programs all share an emphasis on building connections—through application and practical experience—between what students learn in the classroom and how they can apply it to the world in which they live, work, and create. Both our associate's degrees and our bachelor's degrees offer professionally focused majors that are complemented by a strong foundation in the liberal arts.

The position will remain open until filled. NYU appreciates all applications but can only respond to qualified candidates.
