

Call for Papers: Cityscape Symposium on the Hispanic Housing Experience

HUD's Office of Policy Development and Research invites submissions for a symposium in a future issue of Cityscape on topics that relate to the Hispanic Housing Experience in the United States. Topics might include (but are not limited to) –

- Housing Affordability and Hispanic Homelessness
- Hispanic Homeownership Gap
- Hispanic Segregation Patterns
- Hispanic Entrepreneurship and Community Development
- Immigration Trends and the Home Construction Industry

We encourage authors to submit articles within classical economic, geographic, and urban planning frameworks or within interdisciplinary frameworks. Submission proposals may be theoretical or empirical but must be original work. We strongly encourage articles that address policy implications.

Submit abstracts by July 1, 2020. If accepted, authors need to submit full manuscripts by December 15, 2020. Submissions may be peer reviewed, and authors are responsible for addressing issues raised by the editors and/or reviewers by March 15, 2021. Submit abstracts and direct questions to George Carter at George.R.Carter@hud.gov.
